

Two art & heritage institutes merged with Ambedkar univ

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi government on Tuesday announced merger of College of Arts and Delhi Institute of Heritage Research & Management with Dr BR Ambedkar University of Delhi (AUD). It has also decided to release funds for scholarships to SC/ST/OBC communities, under Ladli Scheme, for aid and equipment for children with special needs and to augment library infrastructure in its schools.

The cabinet approved Rs 100 crore for Ladli, which "would benefit school-going girls". The scheme, being implemented by the women and child development department since 2008, aims at promoting education among girls, reducing their dropout rate and providing financial security.

It also decided to release Rs 75.98 crore for SC/ST/OBC communities. These schemes include pre- and post-matric scholarships, and merit scholarships for these three and minority students from classes I to XII. Ten government institutes of technology, Delhi Institute of Tool Engineering (Wazirpur and Okhla campus) and Govind Ballabh Pant Engineering College will be merged and brought under Delhi Skill and Entrepreneurship University to "streamline skill education in Delhi".

"The council of ministers chaired by chief minister Arvind Kejriwal took decisions that will have far-reaching impact on the higher and technical education system in Delhi," the government stated.

Deputy chief minister Manish Sisodia said, "Delhi government is committed to expand skilling opportunities for our youth. These mergers will make the skilling ecosystem more efficient and raise the employability of our youth." The government also announced that one more World-Class Skills Centre was being set up at Pushp Vihar, taking the total number to nine. "The cabinet sanctioned Rs 9.9 crore for the new centre and it is a part of the vision of Delhi government to establish 25 World-Class Skill Centres," the statement pointed out. "To ensure education is accessible and inclusive, the cabinet has also approved Rs 2 crore for Talent Promotion Scheme for Children with Special Needs and Children with Disabilities," said a statement. Under the talent promotion scheme, funds will be given to the inclusive education branch of the directorate of education to help government schools acquire equipment/aids and support services for the students.

DoE has been allowed to procure 4,178 steel almirahs for class libraries for Rs 7.2 crore. AUD vice-chancellor Anu Singh Lather said the courses offered by College of Arts matched with the social science domain of AUD. "The merger will be seamless as we have a school of design and a school of culture. We would like to merge it as a school of the university."
